STAKEHOLDERS ENCOURAGED TO USE INSIGHTS FROM THE FUTURES OF WORK IN SOUTH AFRICA RESEARCH REPORT

The National Economic Development and Labour Council (NEDLAC) released the 'Futures of work in South Africa' research report in March 2019. The research was commissioned through the council's Development Chamber.

The research was aimed at describing the futures of work in South Africa towards 2030, gaining insights by focusing on a sectoral analysis, the potential impact of skills development and emerging trends.

Social partners in government, organised business, organised community formations and organised labour are urged to read the complete report to ensure that they experience and benefit from the richness of the information gathered.

The executive summary and full report can all be accessed on www.nedlac.org.za
